Education Out Loud, GPE's fund for advocacy and social accountability, provides support for civil society to become active and influential in shaping education policy to better meet the needs of communities, especially the most marginalized.

“We want to listen to those working close to marginalized societies and support them in trying out new approaches and solutions to combat inequality in education”.

Lars Udsholt,
Program Manager, Education Out Loud

Education Out Loud works with civil society organizations in more than 50 countries to effectively advocate for quality education on behalf of the public interest.

With an overall funding envelope of US$55.5 million, Education Out Loud is the biggest education advocacy fund in the world available for civil society supporting practices to strengthen transparency, accountability and civic participation in education.

Education Out Loud aims to enhance civil society capacities to engage in education sector planning, policy dialogue and monitoring and to promote transparency and accountability of national education sector policy.

Education Out loud also seeks to create a stronger global and regional enabling environment for civil society advocacy and transparency efforts in education.

Together we will deliver quality education so that every girl and boy can have hope, opportunity, and agency.
